Coroner Franklin H. Brown completed on Friday his investigation of the death of Stanley Cynere, who died at the Backus hospital on Tuesday from injuries he received on Sunday night, when he was struck on the road by the automobile of Mrs. Fannie Williams. AT DAVIS THEATRE.

The Misleading Lady.

A well filled house that responded with many bursts of laughter and applause to the good work of the cast saw "The Misleading Lady" at the Davis Theatre last night. It was an unusual and unique comedy-drama in three acts that gave Miss Evelyn Watson in the title role and Beresford Bennett as the hero satisfying opportunities to display their talents. Their work was uniformly well balanced, whether for comedy touches or the more dramatic lines, while a notable bit of characterization which was enthusiastic applause was that of Al. Hilton as the crack-brained individual who imagined he was Napoleon Bonaparte. The minor characters were well filled and the play made a pleasing impression.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES IN THE COMING MONTHS.

To Be Held in Connecticut With Agricultural College Extension Work.

The advisory board of farmers' institutes of the state board of agriculture held a meeting Friday in the office of the secretary of the board in the capitol at Hartford to consider matters relating to the holding of institutes in Connecticut during the coming fall and winter. The following members of the board were present: Leonard H. Healey, secretary; Charles L. Beach, H. H. Miles, Dr. E. H. Jenkins, H. T. Carrigues and David Stone Keisley.

The board decided to invite representatives of farmers' associations throughout the state to a conference to be held in Hartford Sept. 25 for the purpose of considering a plan for holding institutes. It was the purpose to hold the institutes in connection with the extension work of the Connecticut Agricultural college. The institutes in the past have done a great deal of good in the way of instructing farmers in the management of their farms and in the cultivation of crops. It is the intention of those in charge of the work this year to make the institutes of greater benefit than they have been in the past. It is believed that with an exchange of ideas at the conference a plan will be devised which will have the effect of securing the best possible results from the institutes. The authorities of the agricultural college are in thorough sympathy with the purpose of the institutes and they may be depended on to promote their success.

WAR HASTENS MARRIAGE.

John Carley Married to Former Norwich Girl.

With the arrival in New Port, R. I., of John Carley, son of the late John Carley, it became known that he had been married at Vanleek Hill, Ontario, on Monday, August 17, to Miss Abby D. P. Stefferson, of New York. Mr. Carley met Miss Stefferson two years ago at her summer home in Stonington, Conn., but had not seen her since until this summer, when he ran across a party of which she was a member, camping in the Laurentian mountains in Ontario. The wedding at Vanleek Hill was a very quiet affair. It was planned for October, but the Reserve of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, of which Mr. Carley is a member, are expected to be called to the colors soon. It was thought best to have the marriage take place at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Carley arrived in New Port last Sunday evening from New York and will remain several days. Their future residence will be in Glen Garry, Ontario, where Mr. Carley is a partner in the Johnston-Carley Stock Raising company. Mrs. Carley is the daughter of Peter Stefferson of Laurel Hill avenue, this city, and has many friends here.
